Your job search doesn't end after you land that first job. You know that there is always room for change, for expansion, and for finding that "better fit." Changing jobs is a well-established reality and news sources indicate that an attorney may change jobs as often as three to five times within a career. If you are in the process of rethinking your career, or even if you are just wondering what your options are, take advantage of the career services offered at Chase College of Law.

Chase Law Library - Career Development Collection

The Law Library and the Career Development Office have joined forces to provide the Career Development Collection. The collection is located on the 2nd Floor of the Library and contains print materials and videotapes. The collection ranges from resume, networking, and interviewing guides to books on both traditional and alternative careers for lawyers. Some of our more popular titles for attorneys are: Building Career Connections; The Official Guide to Legal Specialties, How to Start & Build a Law Practice; Non-legal Careers for Lawyers; The Right Moves: Job Search & Career Development Strategies for Lawyers; and What Can You Do With a Law Degree?

Career Development Office

The Career Development Office helps alumni explore career options through counseling, legal career programs, networking assistance, and job postings. Alumni not only have access to our school's job postings, but the job postings of many other law schools throughout the country. The Career Development Office also periodically schedules events that provide an opportunity for attorneys to network with other attorneys and law students. You can access additional information via the Career Development web site http://chaselaw.nku.edu/career_development/.

Postings - In Print and Online

The Career Development Office posts online job openings which are updated daily and can be accessed by Chase students and alumni. Just visit the Career Development Office

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION CENTER

The NKU ADR Center draws upon the expertise and experience of NKU faculty to provide the tri-state area with dispute resolution services. The Center is available to mediate and arbitrate employment, commercial, landlord-tenant, international, public policy, neighbor-to-neighbor and family issues.

Learn more about the Center and meet our mediators and arbitrators at:

web site and follow the links to Job Postings. On this page, alumni also have access to the Intercollegiate Job Bank, which contains job postings from various law schools across the nation. Contact the Career Development Office if you do not have the passwords needed to access these two resources. Call either the General Number 859-572-5383 or Lisa Moore, Director 859-572-5354. The Career Development Office also posts job openings on the "job announcements bulletin board" on the 3rd floor.

Job Hunting Via the Web

There are many useful resources on the web to explore your career options. It is possible to search for job openings, find legal recruiters, locate background information on possible employers, and to post resumes on job boards. You can search the web to find discussions about job satisfaction and career choices. The Career Development Office web site links to a number of useful web sites via the Resources page.

Keep in mind that the Chase Law Library and the Career Development Office can assist in you in your quest to find meaningful employment.
